

Critical Globalization Studies is the first volume to map out a critical approach to the rapidly growing field of globalization studies. Centrally concerned with global justice, the contributors both scrutinize and recast the subject. As well, the volume serves as a bridge connecting scholars of globalization, the policy world, and the global justice movement. The essays examine a wide range of topics too often left at the margin of globalization studies and in the process raise a host of crucial questions: What is a critical globalization studies? What are the competing approaches and perspectives within the globalization debate? What is the nature of power and conflict in the world today and what role does globalization play? In what directions is globalization research moving and what are the implications of globalization for the academy? How have major global resistance movements affected the study of globalization?

Unique in its expansive and comprehensive approach, Critical Globalization Studies develops new and important theoretical perspectives on globalization while engaging global social activism. It is an indispensable guide for both academics and practitioners.

Contributors: Richard P. Appelbaum, Giovanni Arrighi, Barrie Axford, Walden Bello, Kum-Kum Bhavnani, Edna Bonacich, Christopher Chase-Dunn, Norma Chinchilla, A. Claire Cutler, G. Reginald Daniel, Steve Derné, Richard Falk, John Foran, Susan George, Barry Gills, Ramón Grosfoguel, Lisa Hajjar, Karen Halnon, Jerry Harris, David Harvey, Jeffrey Henderson, Nathalia E. Jaramillo, Lauren Langman, Ligaya Lindio-McGovern, Peter McLaren, Philip McMichael, James H. Mittelman, Valentine M. Moghadam, Njoki Njoroge Njehu, Darren J. O'Byrne, Rhacel Salazar Parreñas, Jean L. Pyle, William I. Robinson, Anita Roddick, Victor Roudometof, Saskia Sassen, Beverly J. Silver, Leslie Sklair, David A. Smith, Molly Talcott, Hung Cam Thai, Angie Ngoc Tran, Howard Winant

Richard P. Appelbaum is Professor of Sociology and Global & International Studies at the University of California at Santa Barbara, where he directs the Institute for Social, Behavioral, and Economic Research.

William I. Robinson is Professor of Sociology at the University of California at Santa Barbara.

 Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group

Cover design: Mark Lerner
Cover image: © CORBIS

Printed in the U.S.A.

270 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10016
www.routledge-ny.com
2 Park Square, Milton Park, Abingdon, Oxon OX14 4RN, UK
www.routledge.co.uk

ISBN 0-415-94962-9

9 780415 949620